

European Academy of Dermatology and Venereology (EADV)

Founded in 1987, EADV is a non-profit association whose vision is to be the leading European Society for Dermatology and Venereology with important aims of:

- Leading to improved quality patient care;
- Continuing medical education (CME) for all Dermato-Venereologists within Europe;
- Advocating on behalf of the specialty and patients.

Membership has widened to include all areas of Europe and elsewhere, and to develop alliances and affiliations with other organisations.

The EADV has undertaken the task of promoting CME by organizing major congresses all over Europe. Next congresses are planned in Lisbon (2011), Riga (2012) and Istanbul (2013). Next Spring Symposia are planned in Verona (2012) and Cracow (2013).
